2018: In December 18th Patron Lesley Garrett spearheaded a BBC Radio 4 Appeal for Lost Chord UK, raising funds and highlighting the urgent need for dementia support. The appeal aired multiple times in December and achieved incredible media coverage raising vital awareness:

2018: Lesley Garrett also recorded a short video discussing her personal connection to Lost Chord UK and the impact of music therapy on dementia patients, further promoting the charity on social media and other platforms.

Other Contributions:

Throughout her tenure as a patron, Lesley has continuously raised the profile of Lost Chord UK through interviews, public appearances, and personal advocacy. Her passion, tireless work and unwavering support have significantly boosted our charity's visibility and fundraising capabilities.

Financial Impact:

Lesley's involvement has not only brought in direct funds through concerts, interviews and fundraising appeals but also attracted other donors and volunteers, amplifying the overall impact of Lost Chord UK's work.

By drawing on her celebrity status, sharing her unlimited musical and media talents and lending a deep commitment to our cause, Lesley Garrett has played a crucial role in supporting and advancing the mission of Lost Chord UK. This stellar support over the years has helped to improve the quality of life for many people with dementia, the carers and their families.

On behalf of everyone we support- we cannot thank you enough.

Thank you
